

COMPROMISE ON NEW SENATE RULES

A compromise with the Progressives of the Senate on the Norris resolution to "democratize Senate procedure" was reached in the Republican Senatorial conference yesterday.

The Norris rule, as modified by the special committee of Republican Senators headed by Senator Lenroot, was unanimously approved by the conference, and will be made effective when the Republicans organize the Senate.

The changes in the Senate rule proposed by the Republicans are highly technical but extremely important. With the modified Norris rule in effect no Senator can be a member of more than two of the ten most important committees of the Senate. Neither can a Senator who is chairman of one of these committees be a member of any of the other committees of any of the other committees, without the consent of the full membership of the second committee.

The effect of the changes proposed will be to allow a greater number of Senators to have an important part in framing the legislation. Conference committees upon important legislation frequently have more influence over the legislation than either the Senate or the House. At present, because of the seniority rule, a few Senators who have served many terms have come to hold important positions on all important committees. These Senators always are named as members of the conference committees.

This practice will be broken up when the new rule becomes effective. Progressives tonight regarded today's action as an advance in their fight to rid the Senate of stand-pat control.

ADVERTISMENT— Cured His RUPTURE

I was badly ruptured while lifting a trunk—several years ago. Doctors said my only hope of cure was an operation. I tried it, but it did me no good. Finally I got out of something called "Miller's Antiseptic Oil" (Snake Oil). Years have passed and the rupture has never returned, although I am doing some heavy work. There was no operation, no loss of time, no trouble. I have nothing to sell, but will give full information about how you can get a complete cure without operation, if you write to me. Eugene M. Miller, Carpenter, 270 S. Madison Avenue, Manhattan, N. Y. Better cut out this notice and show it to any doctor who tells you that you may have a life or at least stop the misery of rupture and the worry and danger of an operation.

OLD FOLKS ATTENTION!

Pain is the great enemy of advancing age—keeps you from work and robs your earning power. But if you suffer from rheumatism, lumbago, stiff joints, headache, sore throat, neuralgia, grippe or any pain, here is a mighty good news for you. You can feel 10 to 15 years younger—you can be merry and able to work hard. You can get relief from pain quickly and surely. Just get a bottle of Miller's Antiseptic Oil (Snake Oil). In 30c, 60c, or $1.00 bottles at leading druggists everywhere, and People's Drug Stores, 14th and K streets, and 14th and H streets, and 14th and M streets, and 14th and N streets.

EXPECT MAYER TO EXPLAIN 'BRIBERY'

Levy Mayer, counsel for Armour & Co., will be given every opportunity to answer bribery charges made by Francis J. Heney when the Senate Agricultural Committee meets tomorrow.

Heney testified yesterday that at a previous hearing Mayer had promised him inducements if he would work for the interest of the packers. He denounced Mayer's alleged action and said it warranted an investigation.

Mayer is scheduled to appear before the committee tomorrow morning, when he will discuss legal phases of the Kendrick bill. Members of the committee warranted an explanation from Mayer. That opportunity will be given early tomorrow morning before Mayer begins his testimony regarding the bill.

Neither Mayer nor Heney could be held last night to explain the incident. Heney declared that this occurred at one of the recent sessions of the committee, when Mayer made the offer in an undertone.

Packers Fought Probe.
Heney introduced a number of letters and telegrams designed to show that the packers fought the Borland resolution, asking for an investigation of their business. Henry Vanderpool, counsel of Swift & Co., admitted that the packers opposed the resolution, and that they would take a similar stand if necessary in the future. Yesterday, he denied that there is anything improper in the activities of Swift & Co. regarding this matter.

The only other witness yesterday was Dr. J. M. Wilson, a cattle shipper and grower of Wyoming. Wilson said that he opposed the Government operation of stockyards and urged the return of the railroads to their original owners.

"Congress will be kept in the dark forever about the extent of the packers' monopoly, and the enormous profits they are reaping, unless you get the packers' books and check up the percentages shown on their ledgers," Mr. Wilson asserted.

Profit Unreasonable.
Senator Norris pointed out that the packers cleaned up 22 per cent profit on the business done last year and asked Mr. Wilson if he did not think that was a unfair figure. The packers point out that their average profit is about 15 cents on the dollar.

"That percentage of profit is unreasonable," Mr. Wilson said, "and it is accounted for in the rapid turnover in the packing business. The published statements of the packers that their profits on sales amount to less than 2 cents on the dollar is a misrepresentation of the facts, and is misleading to the public."

Mr. Wilson, as one of the directors of the American Live Stock Association, declared that that body was vigorously opposed to Government operation of the stock yards. Sentiment of Western cattle raisers generally proposed the view that the Government should enter upon such an experiment.

"Well, if you oppose this legislation, then what would you suggest should be done to further safeguard the interests of the producers as well as the consumers?" Senator Kendrick inquired.

The main objective should be to clear the field for competitive business on a free scale, so that the packers will not be able virtually to dictate prices not only with regard to what the cattle grower receives, but what the consumer pays," Mr. Wilson said.

He estimated that the five big packers get about 75 per cent of the cattle sold in the Chicago market and are able to manipulate prices as well as squeeze the independent packers out of their fair share.

CAN'T USE ENLISTED MEN ON ROAD WORK

The Senate last night adopted an amendment to the $400,000,000 post-office appropriation bill, prohibiting the employment of American soldiers, sailors or marines while still in service in the building of roads. This amendment was designed to prevent the use of soldiers returning to this country and not yet discharged in carrying out a $200,000,000 road building program authorized by the bill.

The postoffice bill was passed last night. An effort to kill the rural motor truck service was defeated. The Senate voted to continue for another year the experiment begun a year ago to determine whether by the use of motor trucks the fruit producer and the city consumer can be brought closer together. Southern Senators succeeded in defeating an amendment by Senator Macey providing that no part of the $200,000,000 road appropriation should be spent on roads by the Government in connection with military cantonments. The effect of this amendment would have been to deprive the South of a large proportion of the road fund because the Government built many modern roads to cantonments which are nearly all located in the South.

The $200,000,000 road provision was adopted in the face of charges that it was a pork barrel appropriation.

MEADE MEN INTERESTED IN CHICKENS—FEATHERED

CAMP MEADE, Feb. 9.—Many men in camp are taking interest in chickens. Prof. R. H. Wolfe, of the Maryland Agricultural College, has found that his lectures on poultry farming has met with popularity that indicates that some wounded soldiers will take up this line. An experimental poultry farm will be established so that the lessons may be made as practical as possible. On the thousands of acres here every phase of farming will be taught in the most practical way.

The camp is getting ready for the arrival of large contingents from abroad. Most of these will come by way of Newport News. Many of the arrivals now are from remote parts of the country where men of this type were in training when the armistice was signed.

MONDAY- STORE NEWS OF LANSBURGH & BRO.

Editorial

"What kind of a man is Mr. So and So to work for?" asked a friend recently.

"We don't know," we told him, "but go and talk to some of the lesser executives of the business; talk to the men under these bosses. Then you'll know what kind of an employer he is."

An organization is usually a reflection of the man or men at the head of it.

A chief who is continually finding fault and nagging will produce minor executives of the same type.

On the other hand a man who is big and does big things will produce such men.

That is why you will find men from certain organizations gaining prominence while those of another are never heard of outside of their immediate sphere.

We're proud of the business men who were graduated from Lansburgh & Bro.
